State Board of Tax Commissioners.

REPORT.

OFFICE OF THE STATE BOARD OF TAX COMMISSIONERS,

ALBANY, March 11, 1907.

To the Legislature of the State of New York:

In submitting its report for the year 1906, the State Board of Tax Commissioners earnestly asks the co-operation of your honorable body in an effort to make more effective the tax laws of the State.

Experience each year develops new phases of these statutes which demand improvement if our system of taxation is to be maintained at a standard worthy the Empire State. Serious shortcomings in the Special Franchise Tax Law and omissions and inequalities in the Mortgage Tax Law are regarded by this Board as meriting the best thought and attention of the law-making body.

SPECIAL FRANCHISE TAX LAW.

After a test of eight years, during which it has been upheld by the courts of last resort, the Special Franchise Tax Law has vindicated its enactment. The special franchise assessments made by this board for the year 1906 amounted to $427,951,459. This was an increase in valuations of $71,121,904 over 1905, and comprised 5941 separate assessments against 1853 corporations, firms and individuals, certified to 998 tax districts.

The abolition of all direct State taxes leaves the various interested localities as the sole beneficiaries of these added revenues, but it becomes none the less the duty of the State to see that this important statute is faithfully executed. To this end it is respectfully submitted that the Legislature can perform a genuine public service by enacting an amendment to the law which will compel the prompt payment by dilatory corporations of their special franchise taxes. The injustice of the condition presented by some corporations in refusing to pay their taxes until after prolonged litigation should be terminated by appropriate legislation which will compel the prompt payment of these obligations.

The records show that there is now due a total of nearly $18,900,000 in unpaid special franchise taxes in the cities of the State. In Greater New York alone these unpaid taxes reach the large total of $18,476,585.54. In Buffalo $258,942.85 remains unpaid, in Yonkers $83,159.38, in Mount Vernon $17,108.50, in Syracuse $8,316.31, in Troy $6,278.56, in New Rochelle $5,726.88, in Albany $3,843.68, and in Rochester $1,722.49. Some corporations have not as yet paid any special franchise tax, although the law was placed on the statute books nearly eight years ago. In this connection it should be stated, however, that a part of these unpaid taxes may be reduced to the local equalization through proceedings now pending in the courts, but such reductions, if made, would leave a total of more than $16,000,000 of back special franchise taxes due the various cities of the State.

LITIGATION SHOULD NOT DELAY PAYMENTS.

The valuations or assessments of special franchises are made by this Board upon the basis of what the commissioners deem to be the full and true value. Upon the other hand, local assessments, as a rule, are made upon a basis of less than the full and true value of the real property assessed. This existing condition is recognized by statute in the power conferred upon boards of supervisors to equalize assessed values of real property as between the several towns of the county, and in the power conferred upon the State Board of Equalization to equalize assessments as between the several counties. Again, the court, in the original test case under this law (People ex rel. Metropolitan Street Railway Co. v. State Board of Tax Commissioners, 174 N. Y. 417), recognized these conditions and ordered a reduction of the assessment. In deciding that case the late Judge Earl, acting as referee, reduced the valuations made by this Board to the basis of the equalized value of real property in the county in which the assessment was made, as fixed by the State Board of Equalization for that year. Since the decision in this case, where valuations have come before the court for review on writs of certiorari, and settlements have been made, they have been made upon the basis of the reduction of the assessments made by this board to the equalized value for the locality as fixed by the State table of equalization, in accordance with the precedent established by Judge Earl in the Metropolitan case. In view of this decision, it has become the settled belief of corporations and individuals that they are entitled to reduction in their assessments, as a matter of right, in all cases where writs of certiorari are taken to review the assessments of special franchises. It is our belief that in many instances advantage is taken of these conditions to secure delay in the payment of taxes.

The legal department of the State seems to have taken recently the position that the valuations made by this Board are not conclusive as to their being the full and fair value of the property assessed, and that such valuations may be further inquired into and proofs of additional value given to prevent reductions. It may, nevertheless, be seriously doubted whether or not this Board can be heard to raise that question, and, if not, whether the municipality affected stands in any better position in that respect, in view of the fact that under the statute the writ of certiorari must run to and be answered by this Board alone and cannot be made to run to any other board or officer unless by permission or direction of the court or a judge granting the writ. In any event the proposition opens a new field of litigation and may result in indefinite postponement of the payment or collection of these taxes.

We are to assume that eventually the corporations and individuals assessed for special franchises will be compelled to pay their taxes upon what the courts shall establish in the proceeding as the proper basis of taxation; but what the municipalities are directly and vitally interested in is the prompt and timely payment of these taxes when they should be paid. Long delays deprive them of the moneys needed to meet the current expenses of the municipality, and oftentimes require the borrowing of money to meet deficiencies. To obviate such conditions these municipalities are looking to the Legislature for relief.

EQUALIZATION THE KEY TO PROMPT PAYMENTS.

The primary and underlying difficulties, in the way of immediate enforcement of the payment of these taxes, are found in the fact that the corporation or individual assessed has the right to have the assessments made by the State Tax Commissioners reduced to the equalized value of other assessments in the locality for which the assessment is made.

We recommend:

First, that this Board be given the power, after it has fixed a special franchise assessment at its full and true value, to inquire into the rate of assessments of real property in that tax district and reduce its valuation to the basis of such local assessments, and then,

Second, that the corporation or individual assessed shall be required to pay the tax levied upon such assessment when it becomes due and payable, as a condition precedent to the right of review thereof on the ground of inequality or over-valuation.

This follows the same principle as prevails with respect to franchise taxes required to be paid to the State Comptroller. With proper provision for refund in case the assessment is reduced, this would work no injustice to the corporation or individual assessed, and would relieve the municipality from the embarrassment of not having funds with which to meet current expenses. If, after the assessment thus has been equalized by this board, the taxes levied thereon are not paid, the way then would be clear to sell the property and franchises for non-payment.

We also would recommend, in the same connection, as a cumulative remedy, that provision be made for the maintenance of an action for the sequestration of the property of delinquent corporations, and to restrain them from the exercise of their franchise privileges until such taxes are paid.

STREET CROSSING EXEMPTIONS.

As originally enacted, the law contemplated that all use and occupancy of streets, highways and public places for the purposes specified in the statute should be deemed subject to taxation as special franchises. Owing to the large number of assessments which this provision necessitated, the difficulty of obtaining satisfactory information and the large attending expense, the Legislature amended the law so as to exclude crossings of streets, highways and public places from the definition of a special franchise, where such crossings were for a less distance than 250 feet in length. The immediate effect of this amendment was to reduce the number of special franchise assessments made by this Board by more than 1100, and took from the aggregate special franchise assessments more than $10,000,000 in values. A small portion of this amount was tangible real property embraced therein which went back to the jurisdiction of local assessing officers, but the much larger amount represented intangible or special franchise value proper, which has since that time been lost to the localities. It may be quite safely stated that but for this amendment the amount of the intangible or special franchise values, on account of the assessment of these crossings, would at this time show a material increase over the amount stated. The greater part of these values which entered into this aggregate of $10,000,000 came from the populous centers, the cities and villages of the state. It may be, as contended, that the expense of gathering the information and making the assessments of these crossings in the country districts by this Board is out of proportion to the benefits received, but this condition does not exist in respect to such crossings in the populous centers. In such localities these rights are of very substantial value. In many instances they are much more valuable than special franchises which are being assessed by this Board on account of their being differently situated in streets and public places. This property right, indisputably of substantial value, is not taxable under the present law and this board is unable to see why it should not bear its just share of the burdens of government.

We recommend restoring the provisions of the original law to the extent of making the right, permission or authority to use the streets, highways and public places in cities and incorporated villages, a taxable special franchise.

ADDITIONAL SPECIAL FRANCHISE RECOMMENDATIONS.

The attention of the Legislature is respectfully called to the case of the People ex rel. Retsof Mining Co. against the State Board of Tax Commissioners, 75 App. Div., page 131; affirmed 175 N. Y. page 511. In this case the relator was the owner of a line of pipes in the town of Livonia, placed upon or under the surface of the soil within the limits of the highway, with the consent and grant of the owners of the fee thereof, whose title extended to the center of the street subject to the easement of the public therein for highway purposes. The relator had no express grant or permission from state or municipal authority to lay or maintain the pipes in the highway. The Appellate Division vacated the assessment upon the ground that the relator did not enjoy a special franchise as defined in the tax law. The Court of Appeals in sustaining the decision of the Appellate Division says: "That relator's property right sought to be taxed herein is not a special franchise within the meaning of the franchise tax law."

It seems to us an anomalous condition which allows an individual or corporation to set up its own wrong, a trespass as it were so far as public rights are concerned, as a defense to its liability to taxation.

We recommend an amendment to the Special Franchise Tax Law making the use of public streets, highways and public places conclusive evidence of a grant or permission to use them, so far as it concerns the liability of a person, co-partnership, association or corporation to taxation under this law.

We also recommend that where special franchise assessments are vacated for want of jurisdiction authority should be conferred upon local assessing officers to re-assess the tangible real property embraced in the vacated special franchise assessment and carry the value of such tangible real property upon their rolls for each and every year for which such property has escaped taxation by reason of being included in the vacated special franchise assessment.

ASSESSMENT OF OMITTED PROPERTY.

Under the General Tax Law property which has been omitted from assessment in any year may, in the following year, be entered upon the roll by the local assessors. There seems to be no provision for a correction in case of a failure to assess a special franchise. We would, therefore, respectfully recommend a proper amendment to section 42 of the General Tax Law, or the adding of a new section to Article II, conferring authority upon this Board to enter a special franchise assessment omitted in any year upon the roll for the following year.

CERTIORARI PROCEEDINGS.

The question has frequently arisen as to the right of a city or tax district to intervene in certiorari proceedings taken to review assessments of special franchises made by this Board. The Court of Appeals has decided (People of the State of New York ex rel. Rochester Railway Co. v. Stearns, 185 N. Y. 611) that the Supreme Court has discretionary power, after the issuance of a writ of certiorari and the service thereof upon the State Board of Tax Commissioners, to permit the city to intervene. We would recommend that this privilege be given to any city or tax district as a matter of right rather than of discretion in the courts, for the reason that at the present time all of the taxes resulting from the special franchise assessments go to the locality where the franchise is exercised, and that locality is really the party in interest, hence we think it should not be subjected to the trouble and expense of making an application to the court to be allowed to protect its own interests.

MORTGAGE TAX LAW.

The amended Mortgage Tax Law went into effect July 1, 1906, and for the six months between that date and January 1, 1907, a total of $2,333,817.74 in taxes was collected. The cost of these collections, as audited by this Board, was $33,815.44, being 1.44 per cent. The figures indicate that the total receipts from the law will, for the first year, reach nearly $5,000,000, one-half of which is applicable to State purposes and the remaining one-half to local purposes.

PROVISIONS FOR OLD MORTGAGES.

Under the Mortgage Tax Law of 1905 provision was made in section 314 whereby the owners of old mortgages executed before that act went into effect could, by the filing of the proper statements with the recording officer, bring such mortgages under the operation of that law and enjoy the privileges and benefits conferred thereby in the way of reduced taxes. Many holders of mortgages availed themselves of this provision. Under the present Mortgage Tax Law the privileges conferred by that section were withdrawn, and all mortgages recorded prior to the first day of July, 1906, whether they had been recorded and paid the tax under the act of 1905, or whether they had become subject to the provisions of said act by the optional features of section 314, were deprived of the benefits of the present law and were relegated to the jurisdiction of local assessing officers for the purposes of assessment and taxation as a part of the personal estate of the owner.

The failure to allow these mortgages to be brought in under the present law has given rise to a large amount of adverse criticism and has resulted in charges of bad faith on the part of the State. It is contended, and with much plausibility of argument, that many holders of mortgages voluntarily subjected themselves to the provisions of the act of 1905 by bringing their mortgages under the operation of that act, pursuant to section 314, and are now made to suffer the consequences at the hands of local assessors. During the official visitations made by this Board of thirty counties in the state in the year 1906, criticisms of the act in these respects were numerous, and it has also been the subject of much adverse criticism in the press of the State.

Old mortgages which now are assessed locally as personal property are rapidly being discharged and new ones given in their places to obtain the benefits of reduced taxation under the present law. This entails a large additional expenditure for abstracts of titles, attorneys' fees, and the drawing of new papers. Where these mortgages are past due this expense usually falls upon the borrower. Again, when intervening liens prevent the change of the security in this manner, the owner of the mortgage is quite apt to insist upon payment, which in many instances results in serious embarrassment and expense to the mortgagor.

It is the opinion of this Board that the present law should be so amended as to allow all old mortgages to be brought within the operation of its provisions, upon the payment of the tax imposed thereby.

In view of the small percentage of mortgages now reached for taxation purposes by local assessing officers, we are convinced that, by so doing, the revenues of the State and of its municipal subdivisions probably would be increased rather than diminished.

CORPORATE TRUST MORTGAGES.

This Board already has suggested to the chairmen of the committees on Taxation and Retrenchment of the Senate and the Assembly various other amendments to the Mortgage Tax Law. One of the most important relates to corporate trust mortgages. This class of real property mortgages (unlike any others) is, under the provisions of section 296 of the act entitled to be recorded by simply paying the tax upon the amount advanced at the time of recording; or, where nothing has been advanced at that time, without the payment of any tax. The tax upon this class of mortgages accrues and becomes payable at the time or times when subsequent sums are advanced or become secured. No penalty attaches, however, for a failure to pay such tax at the time such subsequent advances are made or additional sums become secured, nor is provision made for the filing of any statement or the giving of any information disclosing when advancements are made or the tax becomes payable. The only safeguard for the payment of this tax is found in section 295, which prohibits the discharge, assignment, extension or foreclosure of such mortgage, unless the tax has been paid. Unless the corporation executing such a mortgage, or the trust mortgagee thereunder, sees fit to voluntarily comply with the statute by paying the tax when advancements are made or sums become secured, this class of property will escape the payment of any tax upon the mortgage until the time arrives for the discharge, assignment or enforcement of the security, which may be fifty years or more hence. Mortgages of this class are executed almost daily, involving in the aggregate millions of dollars, and should produce a large revenue. As a rule no advancements are made at the time of recording, and hence they are placed upon record without the payment of any tax.

We suggest that the law should be so amended as to make the tax a lien upon the mortgage security; that at the time advancements are made or sums become secured the corporation executing the mortgage, or the trust mortgagee, should be required to file a statement with the proper recording officer giving the data and information respecting the amount advanced or the sum secured; that suitable penalties should be imposed for the non-payment of delinquent taxes; that until the entire maximum amount secured by such mortgage has been advanced or becomes secured and the tax thereon paid, the corporate mortgagor or the trust mortgagee thereunder should be required to file a duly verified statement with the recording officer to whom the tax is payable, showing the amount of advancements upon the mortgage to a given date; and that a suitable remedy should be prescribed to enforce the payment of delinquent taxes.

DIFFICULTIES IN APPORTIONMENTS.

In making the apportionment of taxes on mortgages covering real property situated partly within and partly without the State, the State Board of Tax Commissioners is required, by section 297, to determine what proportion shall be taxable, by determining the relative value of the mortgaged properties, taking into consideration in so doing the amount of all prior incumbrances.

The term "property" as used in this connection clearly has a very broad meaning, and embraces all property falling within the definition of "real property and mortgage of real property" as defined by section 290 of the Mortgage Tax Law. The term is broad enough to include real estate, special franchises, tangible personal property, rents, choses in action, and, in fact, every species of property, tangible or intangible, covered by the mortgage.

The mortgage is entitled to be recorded upon the filing of a statement by the mortgagor and the payment of the tax then due, as computed from the data therein contained, and the statute then imposes the duty upon the State Board of Tax Commissioners to ascertain the values and make the necessary determinations respecting the amount of tax. The statute fails, however, to make provision as to who is required to furnish any other data or information than that contained in the statement filed; no power is conferred on the State Board of Tax Commissioners to require the attendance of witnesses or the filing of proof as to values, and no provision is made whereby the Board is authorized to employ experts to aid in the determination of such value.

Again, while not impossible of determination, the difficulties attending the ascertainment of the values of intangible property rights, such as special franchises and choses in action, without the limits of the State, and beyond the jurisdiction of this Board, will be very great indeed. To enable the Board to ascertain the value of special franchises without the State, covered by a mortgage, it would be necessary to inquire into all the conditions surrounding the granting and enjoyment thereof and to gather a mass of detailed information concerning the business affairs of the mortgagor, which would be very difficult, and practically impossible. The difficulty of ascertaining the value of special franchises is to a greater or less degree true in ascertaining the value of all intangible property. With respect to this class of mortgages we suggest the elimination of the value of intangible property and property rights in determining such values, at least the value of intangible property and property rights situated without the State. Provision should be made whereby either the mortgagor or the mortgagee should be required to furnish the information necessary to enable the Board to make the apportionment, and power should be conferred upon the Board to compel the production of such information in the form of proper proofs.

We also suggest an amendment to the statute by which, where the assessed value of mortgaged real property situated in two or more tax districts cannot be determined from the assessment roll, this Board be given the power, in making apportionments, to ascertain the value to be placed upon the real property in the several tax districts to take the place of the assessed value.

MISCELLANEOUS RECOMMENDATIONS.

The present act seems to be deficient in not prescribing a method of computing the tax upon mortgages where no maximum amount secured to be paid is specified. Mortgages are frequently given for the fulfillment of contract obligations, such as the care and maintenance of individuals, without prescribing any maximum sum to be paid in case of default. The parties interested in such mortgages are desirous of having them recorded, but they are not entitled to record without the payment of the mortgage tax. Recording officers are embarrassed in determining the basis for the computation of the tax. By force of these conditions this Board has been compelled to rule that recording officers should require from the interested parties, proof, to their satisfaction, of the true value of the security, and use such value as the basis for computing the tax. This condition should be remedied by legislative enactment.

The law also seems to be deficient in not covering the case of mortgages executed as continuing security. Assuming that the tax is paid on the maximum amount specified in the mortgage, at the time of recording, it can still be used to secure the same maximum amount specified therein over and over again and no provision is made for taxation of the additional amounts advanced or secured.

Again, if such a mortgage is for no definite maximum amount, the difficulty is presented as to what basis may be used to compute any tax at the time of recording. We suggest that this situation should be clarified by appropriate legislation.

Akin to this proposition is the case of a mortgage executed to secure a sum of money upon which the tax is paid at the time of recording. Subsequently payments are made upon this mortgage which reduce the amount secured thereby. The parties then enter into an agreement making the mortgage security for additional loans or as continuing security for additional loans. The difficulty here presented is that the Mortgage Tax Law does not prescribe any method by which the amount subsequently advanced can be ascertained, and it seems to be deficient in not requiring the payment of tax upon such additional loans, unless it can be held that the agreement itself shall be treated as a mortgage for the purpose of taxation. This seems to us very doubtful. We think the statute should be amended in such manner as to make these additional amounts taxable, and proper procedure for determining the amount thereof should be prescribed.

Your attention is called to the utter lack of any adequate provision of the statute whereby it can be determined whether or not recording officers are properly discharging their duties in computing, collecting and turning over the mortgage taxes. The statute should be amended to correct this omission.

Provision also should be made for the avoidance of double taxation where supplemental or additional mortgages are given to secure an indebtedness mentioned in and secured by a primary or original mortgage. Under the terms of the present act it is impossible for supplemental mortgages to escape the payment of the tax upon the whole amount of original indebtedness, and in such cases double taxation results.

Much confusion has arisen as to the proper disposition by boards of supervisors of moneys which are "applicable to the payment of State, county and town taxes" under section 298. It is suggested that the application of these moneys for the several purposes indicated could with propriety be definitely fixed by an amendment to the act, and avoid this confusion.

ASSESSMENTS.

The total assessed value of property within the state for the year 1905 is as follows:

Real Estate	$7,312,621,452
Personal	$816,399,935
Less amount not taxable locally..	113,930,665 702,469,270
Total	$8,015,090,722
Increase in Real Estate	$261,166,427
Increase in Personal	15,758,655
Total Increase	$276,925,082

Returns for 1906 are not yet complete, but indications point to a greater increase in assessed values for 1906 than for 1905.

REAL ESTATE EXEMPTIONS.

The tabulation of statements transmitted to this Board by local assessors shows exemptions for the year 1906 aggregating $1,484,192, 259, an increase over 1905 of $94,838,848.

We have the honor to be,

Very respectfully,
